

LANDFILL SITE POSSIBILITY

The Nagambie Mining board has decided to apply for a landfill licence for a specific, above-ground site identified at the 100%-owned Nagambie Mine.

The site is on Nagambie Mining's freehold land and is surplus to requirements in that the site is not prospective for gold mineralisation.

A special-purpose subsidiary company will apply for the landfill licence.

The application will be for dry waste only – both commercial industrial waste and construction and demolition waste. Nagambie Mining expects that Melbourne-based companies, as well as central Victorian-based companies, would be interested in the proposed site.

Nagambie Mining is uncertain if the landfill licence application will be successful and, if it is successful, how long it will take to get all the necessary regulatory approvals.

NAGAMBIE MINING

Nagambie Mining Limited is an Australian ASX-listed gold company that is focussed on the discovery, evaluation and development of shallow, open-pittable and heap-leachable gold deposits.

The Company holds 100% of over 500 km² of exploration tenements in central Victoria encompassing historic goldfields at Nagambie, Redcastle and Rushworth. It is testing new structural and mineralisation concepts for gold mineralisation by employing geological, geophysical and geochemical techniques.

Nagambie Mining is also developing construction material opportunities at the Nagambie Mine site, principally for rock and sand products and to ultimately maximise the value of the freehold land owned by the Company at the mine.
